AOS Ware Relaunches Quote Commander, Online Proposal Generation

Adelphia, NJ (6.21.10) – AOS Ware has re-launched their signature online proposal generation tool, Quote Commander, specifically designed to aid Independent Office Products Dealers in the acquisition of new accounts.

Using an intuitive three step process, Quote Commander offers the ability to produce custom quotes in minutes as opposed to what would typically take hours. The tool essentially helps Office Products dealers to go to market more effectively by providing competitive pricing to their prospects.

Dealers may choose to enter a competitor's price, side by side with their own price for easy cost comparisons, or set the pricing of items to match a specific gross profit margin (GPM). Each proposal is branded with the Dealer's logo and can easily be printed or exported as a PDF. The system is also flexible enough to allow the Dealer to easily make changes to the finished proposal before sending to a prospect.

Quote Commander supports data from S.P. Richards, United Stationers and various other office, technology, school & medical supply wholesalers. Dealers may also choose to add their own custom SKU's to the system.

"The saying 'Simplicity Yields Productivity' is the driving principle behind Quote Commander. Our tool allows the Dealer to produce winning proposals within a very short period of time and aids in the acquisition of new business - making this tool very effective and cost efficient", explains Charles Gattsek, COO of AOS Ware.

Attendees of the S.P. Richards Advantage Business Conference in Miami on June 25th, 2010 can stop by booth #706 to review the product in depth.
