

Quote Commander Receives Admirable Reviews at the 2007 SP Richards Expo

Quote Commander allows Independent Office Supply Dealers to compete against the big box suppliers, with the first online proposal generation tool.

Lakewood, NJ (August 16, 2007) – Quote Commander, the premier internet-based quoting system and order entry tool for the office supply industry is revolutionizing how independent office supply dealers compete with the major office supply chains.

At this year's SP Richards Advantage Business Conference and Expo in Nashville, TN, Quote Commander was received exceptionally well by Independent Office Supply Dealers. "The feedback we received from Dealers was excellent. They were excited to learn about an online proposal generation tool, that is not only easy to use, but fits well within their budgets," said Jennifer Stine, Director of Marketing for AOS Web-com, Inc.

The tool allows Dealers to create quotes in minutes and compare them to competitor's prices, which results in increased productivity for sales representatives, CSR's and purchasing managers. The features within Quote Commander help the Independent Dealer go to market with a smarter pricing strategy to help them secure new business and retain existing accounts.

"The show was a huge success for us. We could not be more thrilled with the reception we received, not only for Quote Commander, but for OP Commander and Dealer Commander as well. We would like to extend our thanks to SP Richards for hosting a wonderful event," concluded Ms. Stine.
